WORLD JAMBOREE AT HOLLAND

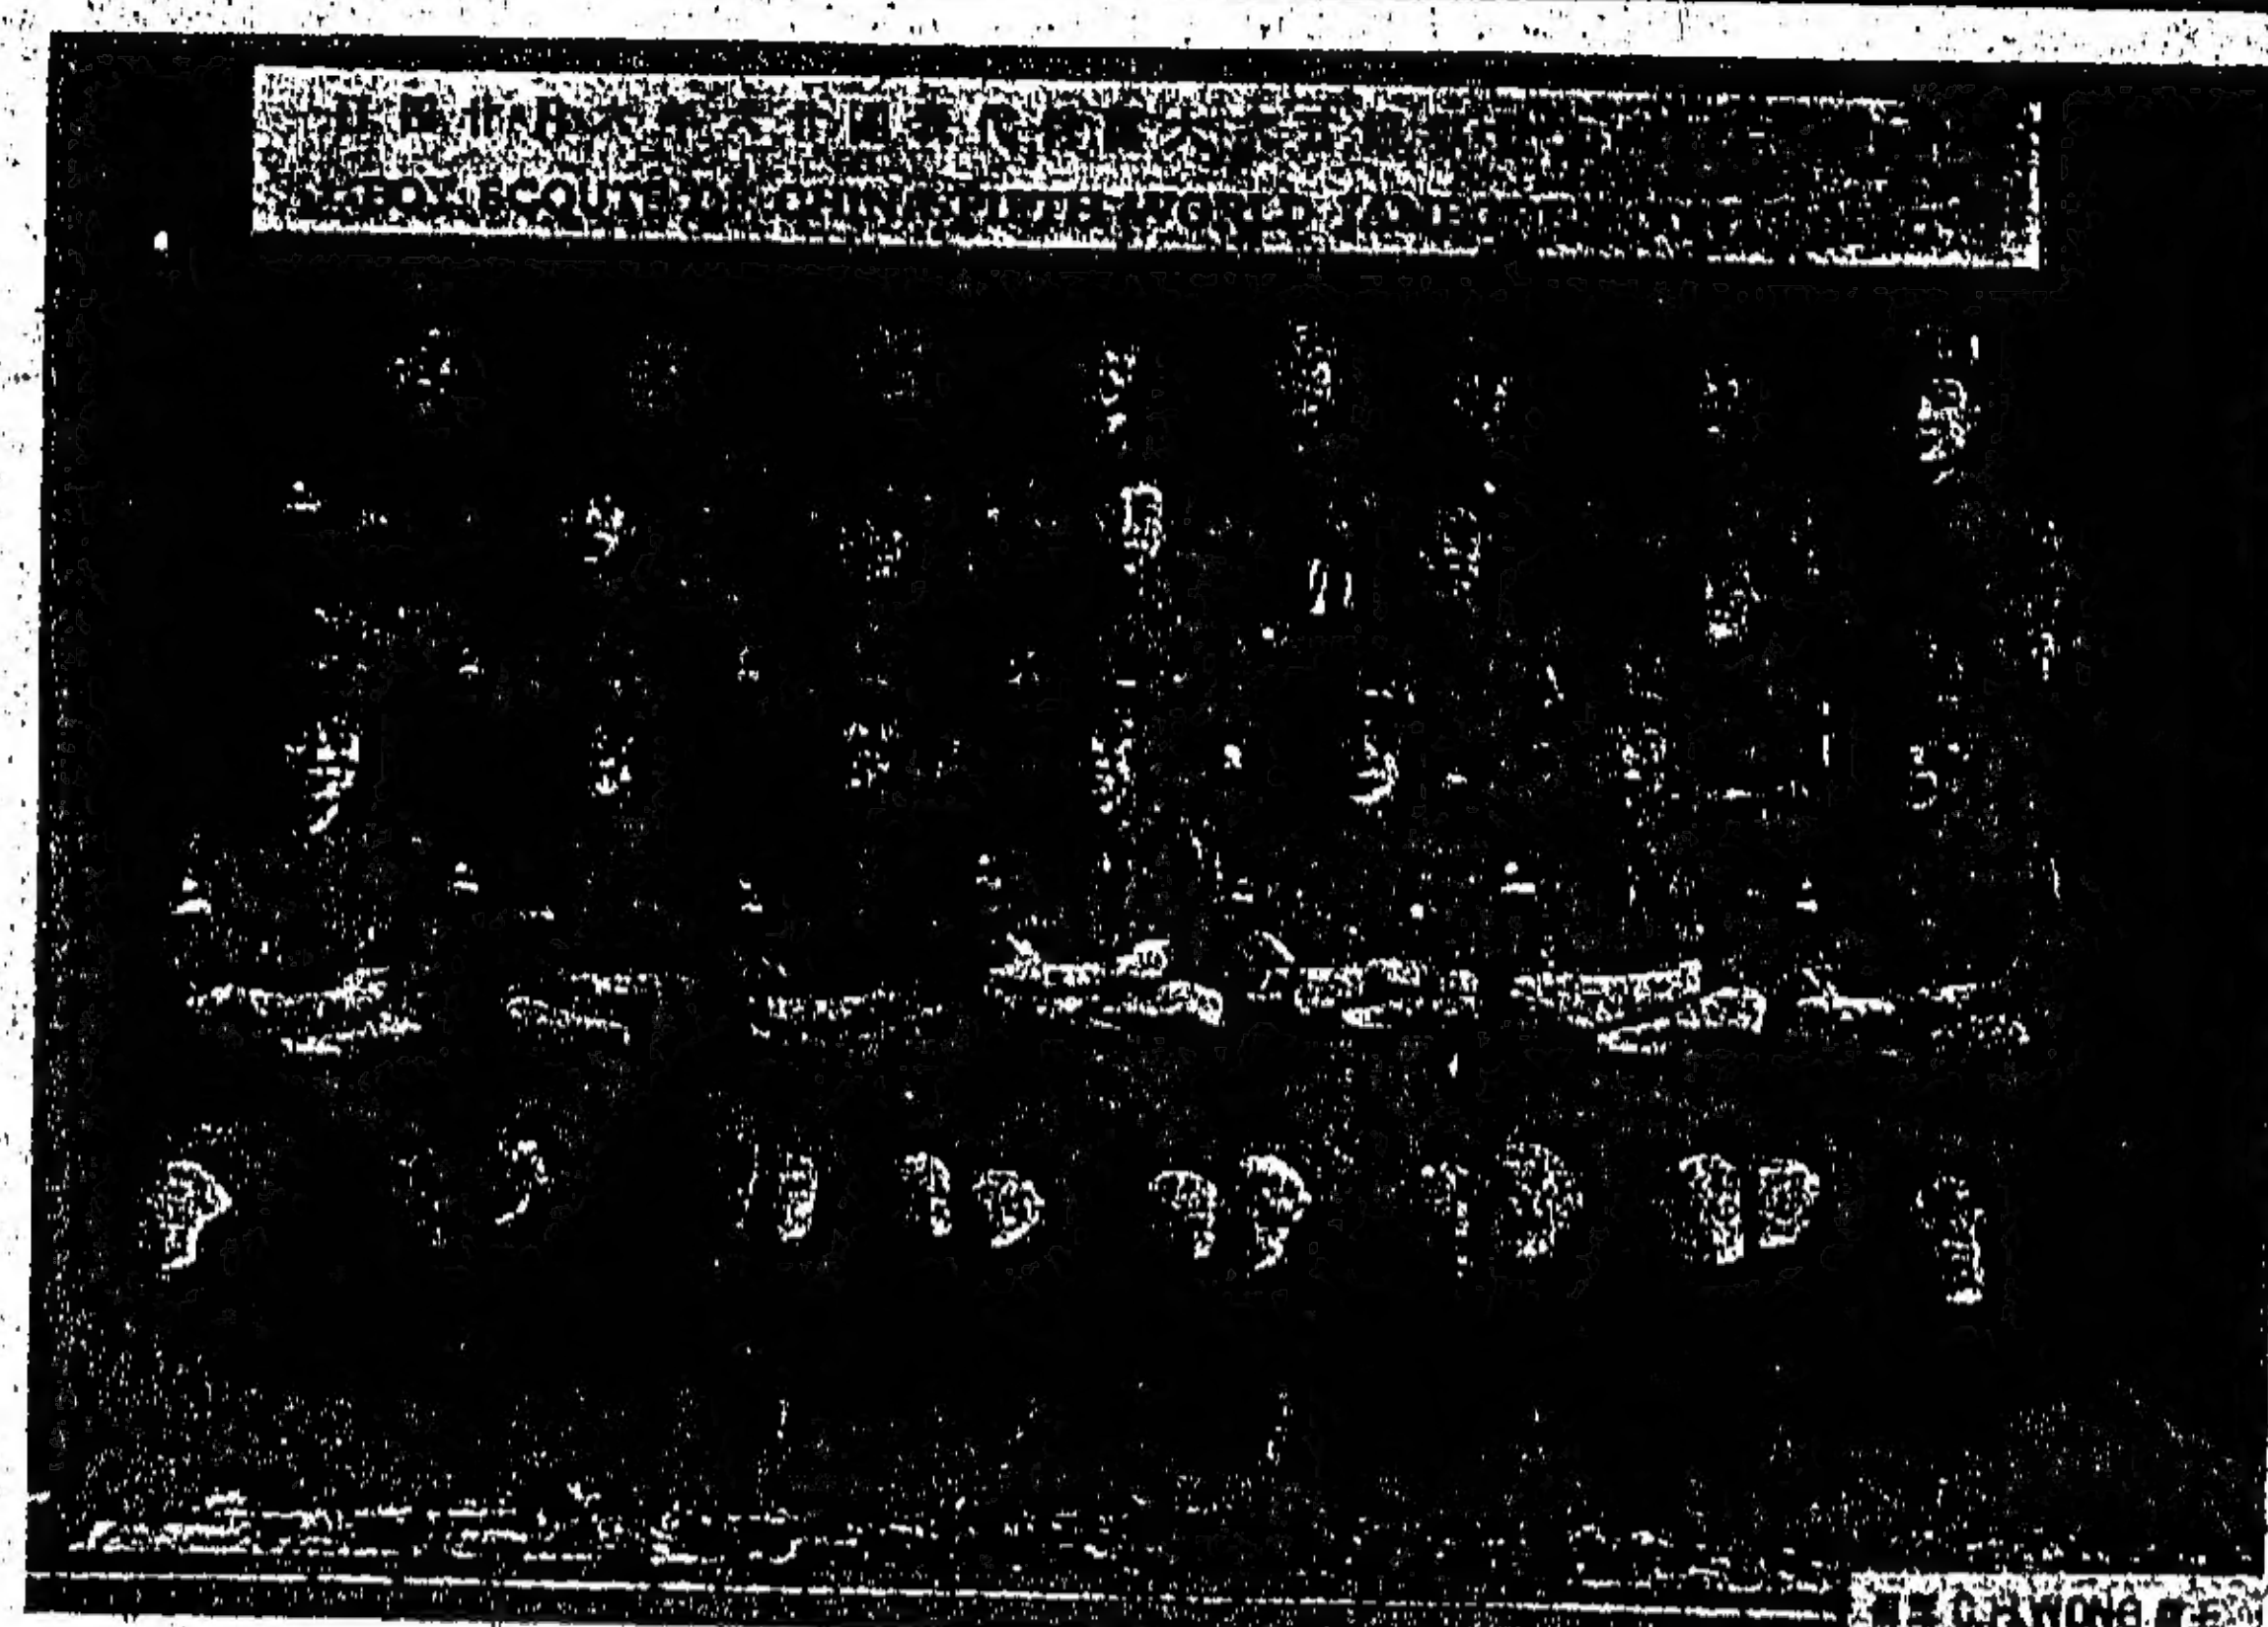

Party Also Going To Italy

Two contingents of Chinese Boy Scouts, one en route to Holland to participate in the Fifth World Scouts Jamboree and the other to Italy on the invitation of Signor Benito Mussolini to take part in the Italian Youth Camp, passed through Hong Kong by the S.S. Conte Verdi yesterday.

Upon arrival they were met by members of the First Hong Kong (St. Joseph's) Troop under the leadership of Mr. M. G. Lenz, Scoutmaster, who, after exchanging greetings, escorted them round the Colony.

The Contingent to the Italian Youth Camp went with one party of St. Joseph's Scouts on a shopping tour, after which they took a car ride round Hong Kong.

The Jamboree Contingent marched with the other party of St. Joseph's Scouts to the Botanic Gardens where they enjoyed themselves, taking pictures of the place. They then went to the St. Joseph's Scouts Headquarters, and, after being shown round the school, were invited by the home (Continued on Back Page).

Mr. W. M. Thomson, Assistant Superintendent of Imports and Exports will prosecute the case, which according to a reliable source, will in all probability be heard at the Central Magistracy.

CHINA'S COMMUNICATIONS

AUTHORITATIVE SURVEY BY DR. CHU CHIA-HUA

BOOK REVIEWED BY THE EDITOR

THERE IS A FUND OF INTENSELY INTERESTING INFORMATION IN THE MOST RECENT ADDITION TO THE AUTHORITATIVE "CHINA TO-DAY" SERIES, PUBLISHED BY THE CHINA UNITED PRESS UNDER THE GENERAL EDITORSHIP OF MR. TANG LEANG-LI, IN A COMPETENTLY COMPILED VOLUME ENTITLED "CHINA'S POSTAL AND OTHER COMMUNICATIONS SERVICES," WRITTEN BY DR. CHU CHIA-HUA.

DR. CHU WAS MINISTER OF COMMUNICATIONS FROM 1932 TO 1935, WHEN HE RELINQUISHED THAT HIGH OFFICE FOR THE EVEN MORE EXALTED POSITION OF CHAIRMAN OF THE CHEKIANG PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENT.

At first glance it might appear that this book on matters so vital to China, domestically and internationally, was mainly confined to voluminous statistics and official records, fascinating to the expert but tedious to the layman who, being for the most part very human, demands of an author a certain measure of picturesqueness even at the expense of accuracy. Let it be clearly stated, therefore, that this volume combines picturesqueness with accuracy in a manner which is a revelation of literary adroitness. In conception and execution this excellently produced volume is of outstanding merit.

Vivid Pen-Pictures

Here is a selection from one of those picturesque passages which vividly portrays conditions—possibly unparalleled anywhere else in the world—under which China's postal service functions. The author follows the course of a letter destined for the North-West, thus:

"One would see this letter starting from Shanghai or Nanking by aeroplane travelling 150 miles an hour, and being carried on subsequent stages by foot couriers capable of doing little more than three miles per hour, going on in this way by relays day and night, crossing rivers on inflated ox-hides, and transferring to a camel caravan over the desert, till it finally reaches one of the distant outposts of Chinese civilization in the province of Sinkiang."

Other highly dramatic word-pictures are given of journeys by junk, the crossing of torrents by a single rope of bamboo, jolting by yak caravan to Litang, perhaps the highest post office in the world.

SMART WORK BY THE POLICE

Chan See Murder: No Clues To Go On

The revelation among the papers of the late Mr. David Chan, See, managing director of the Sincere Company Ltd., who was stabbed to death in Kowloon City on the night of May 13, that contributed to the discovery that, among the people under suspicion, was an opium addict, was an amazing story of remarkable detective work, which led to the arrest of the people alleged to be connected with the crime.

ROBBERY IN CHEUNG CHAU HARBOUR

Marauders Pose As Revenue Officers

Five men impersonating Revenue Officers, successfully carried out a coup on board a fishing junk anchored in Cheung Chau harbour on Saturday, decamping with $1,000, before the alarm could be raised.

Not long afterwards, the alleged robbers were arrested following smart police work and they are now in custody, awaiting trial charged with implication in robbery.

Mak Fuk Wak, 57 years, master of the junk stated to the police that he entered Cheung Chau harbour from Man Mei Chau on Saturday and anchored 200 yards off the Kai Fong wharf, with a few piculs of fish as cargo.

Five men boarded his craft stating that they were Revenue Officers and produced a document written in English and Chinese with a photograph on it, in support of their allegations. They requested permission to search the vessel for contraband tobacco and wine.

Two men then produced revolvers and threatened the master with his life if he did not pay over $2,000. Mak was induced at revolver point to part with $1,000 in $10 and $5 notes.

One of the men was recognised by the master as a former fohki and this information was given to the police. Not many hours later all five men were arrested.

INDIAN PRINCE IN HONG KONG

Pays Call On Governor

An Indian Prince honoured Hong Kong with a brief visit yesterday.

He was Prince Jaya of Mysore, the nephew of the Maharajah of Mysore, who arrived aboard the liner Scharnhorst from the North.

On arrival Prince Jaya was met by Mr. H. J. Crutwell, Private Secretary to His Excellency the Officer Administering the Government (Mr. M. L. Smith), and proceeded across the harbour and paid an informal call on His Excellency at Government House.

Prince Jaya of Mysore has been spending the past two months on a visit to Japan and the North. His Highness left last night aboard the Scharnhorst which departed for Europe.

Prince Jaya's uncle, the Maharajah of Mysore, rules over India's most enlightened State. A little larger than Ireland, it contains 8,000 schools, a university with 3,000 students, many hospitals and public parks. It derives its wealth from rich gold mines and granite quarries.

The Maharajah is a strict Hindu.

BABY HEALTH CAMPAIGN

Prizes Presented At Caroline Hill

DIFFICULT TASK FOR JUDGES

A novel method of educating the Chinese community in respect of bringing their babies up healthy was put forward by Messrs. A. S. Watson and Company Limited by organising what they call the "Watson's Baby Health Campaign" which offers six valuable prizes to the six healthiest Chinese babies between five and twenty-four months old in this Colony.

This campaign was announced in April and was concluded yesterday in the presence of a large gathering of about 1,000 people at the South China Athletic Association ground.

Out of nearly 300 entries about 150 babies participated in this show in which six doctors, assisted by twelve nurses, acting as judges, examined the infants.

MR. JUPP'S SPEECH
At the close of the examination, Mr. J. E. Jupp delivered the following speech, which was interpreted by Mr. Peter Wong:

"On behalf of Watson's, I want to thank you all for coming here this afternoon and for helping to make the afternoon the success that I think you will all agree it has been."

FUSILIER MISSING

No Trace Found

Missing from Shamshulpo Camp since June 13, Drummer Ronald McCormick, of the Royal Welch Fusiliers, is causing his many friends in the battalion some anxiety, whilst completely mystifying the police.

Although extensive efforts are being made by the police in co-operation with the military authorities to find the drummer, no trace of the missing man has been found.

A native of Pembroke Dock, North Wales, McCormick was well liked in the battalion and gave no indication of any grievance against life in the Army.

It is understood that he will be officially posted as deserter if he does not return to barracks by this morning.

Pte. James Macdonald, of the Seaforth Highlanders, after being absent from barracks for six weeks, has returned and given himself up. Nothing has been disclosed concerning his activities during the absence.

SMART WORK BY THE POLICE

It was a forlorn hope, for the Department of Criminal Investigation and the police were clueless, but partly by luck and partly by the consistent and remarkable detective work of the Police Department under the supervision of Mr. F. W. Shaftain, Assistant Director of Criminal Investigation, who gave a very careful examination into every minute detail of the case, and who, working on a certain theory, at present cannot be revealed, managed to obtain a trifling clue which resulted in the receiving of certain information that acted as a direct clue to the arrest of the suspects.

NOTHING TO WORK ON

Interviewed, Mr. Shaftain said that few cases have presented the police with less on which to work, as the victim died without making a statement. A Chinese woman was the only eye-witness of the stabbing, but she was unable to help in any way because she hurried on quickly to see the Coronation Celebrations.

Under the supervision of Det. Inspector A. E. Carey, deceased's personal belongings and books were thoroughly investigated on the day following the murder and the names of several people who were put on the list of suspects were discovered.

A moment's analysis of these suspects revealed that one was an opium addict, the only clue which led to subsequent events.

The news of the reward of $3,000 (Police $1,000 and Sincere's $2,000) for the apprehension of the person or persons responsible for the stabbing was circulated in all opium dens in the Colony by P.C.D. Shek Tsui, hoping to tempt someone to come forward to give the necessary information.

As a result of searching hundreds of opium dens Leung Wong, aged 25, unemployed, was arrested on June 8 at Mongkok.

LONG SEARCH

Ko Wah-tak, aged 24, former employee in the Sincere's Life Insurance Department, where he was transferred to the Shanghai branch a few years ago, only to return to the Colony recently, was also arrested in an opium den two days later.

They were brought before the Magistrate on June 12 and have since been remanded on later appearances in Court.

Li Fuk-chong, aged 38, former Chief Manager of Sincere's Life Insurance Company, Limited, who was transferred to the Perfumery Manufactory at Kennedy Town three years ago as Chief Manager, at which position he held until he was taken into custody by the police on June 17, in his office, was arrested on a warrant by Mr. Shaftain, accompanied by Det. Inspector Carey and P.C.D. Shek Tsui. Li received part of his education abroad. The following day he appeared before the Magistrate and was formally remanded for a week.

The police had been searching for Au Hing from the moment Leung Wong was arrested, and detectives were sent to Macau, Canton and Kongmoon in an endeavour to find him.

Last week, when the search seemed fruitless and the hope for his arrest appeared to be forlorn, the police received information with regard to the whereabouts of Au Hing, and was finally told that he was hiding in a village in the Chinese territory.

DECEIVED TO UN LONG

With the co-operation of the Canton Police, he was deceived to Un Long in the New Territories where he was arrested by Inspector A. E. Carey and P.C.D. Shek Tsui on Thursday morning.

Au Hing was unable to appear before the Magistrate on Saturday morning on account of his being ill in the prison ward of the Queen Mary Hospital, suffering from fever, but it is reported his condition has improved and he will probably appear at the Kowloon Magistracy to-day.

Ko Wah-tak will be represented by Mr. Peter H. Sin while Mr. Leo D'Almada S.M. will appear on behalf of Li Fuk-chong on Tuesday.

WEAKNESS FOR MILK BOTTLES

For the theft of two wooden buckets and 65 milk bottles belonging to the Dairy Farm Co., and 43 bottles from the Kowloon Dairy, on June 21, Leung Kau, a 25-year-old unemployed, was sentenced to six weeks imprisonment when he appeared before Mr. E. M. A. Barnett at the Kowloon Magistracy on Saturday.

Detective Sgt. MacPherson said that defendant and one not

WIFE WINS CLAIM

Summary Court
Action

The hearing of the case in which Mrs. Sylvia Doris Reville claimed the sum of $50, arrears of maintenance, from her husband, Mr. John Reville, was concluded before the Police Judge, Mr. Justice R. E. Lindsell, at the Summary Court on Saturday morning, when the claimant was awarded judgment, with costs.

The claimant was represented by Mr. J. T. Prior, of Messrs. Wilkinson and Grist, while Mr. Peter H. Sin appeared on behalf of the defendant.

It will be recalled that when the case was heard on Friday Mr. Prior made a submission to the effect that the action was founded on a separation agreement and notice had been filed of a defence to which he would strongly object on the ground that it was not relevant.

Mr. Sin submitted that one of his three defences was hardship, on account of his client's having had to deposit security in respect, a divorce action which was pending and of his income being only $300 per month, of which $150 had to be paid to his wife, thereby not making it possible for Mr. Reville to pay the amount claimed.

Mr. Sin further contested the claim on the ground that misconduct on the part of the plaintiff was an equitable defence, on which he was prepared to put his client in the witness box.

Mr. Prior quoted several authorities in support of his submission.

Giving judgment, Mr. Justice Lindsell stated that even if there was such a breach of condition, as failure to allow the husband to take the children out alone, as submitted by the defendant, it was not such as to nullify the agreement.

STOWAWAYS CAUGHT

Seven Chinese who stowed away on board the s.s. Sui Sang to Singapore on May 20, were sent back, and were brought before Mr. K. M. A. Barnett at the Kowloon Magistracy on Saturday. They were all convicted.

Sgt. Alexander, who prosecuted, said that defendants had caused much trouble to the Company. During the period of three weeks' detention in Singapore the company had to pay about $100 per head for the up-keep of each defendant.

The defendants told the Court that the passage to Singapore was only $50 but the clerk demanded $180 for each ticket.

Each defendant was fined $25 or one month's imprisonment. First four defendants who each had over $60 in their possession were ordered to pay $25 arrears to the Company, and fifth defendant $20.

CAPT. CUKURS
LEAVES

Flight To Hanoi

Capt. Herbert Cukurs, Latvian airman, who arrived in Hong Kong last Monday after a direct flight from Shanghai, which occupied seven hours and 20 minutes, took off for Hanoi about 11 a.m. on Saturday.

Capt. Cukurs had intended to leave the Colony on the morning following his arrival here, but was unfortunately prevented from doing so by bad weather.

It will be remembered that during his last visit to the Colony the airman had a crash while taking off, and was compelled to stay here waiting for the spares to arrive. He eventually set off for his flight to northern China and Japan. He started on his homeward journey from Japan on June 12, and had hoped to reach Riga, via Rangoon, Calcutta and Karachi, by July 1.

BAG SNATCHER
SURPRISEDGirl Victim Gives
Chase

Cheng Cheung had an unpleasant surprise when, after he had snatched a handbag from Miss Cheng Yin-long, he was arrested by his victim and her girl friend who chased him through several streets.

There was a sequel before Mr. E. Himsforth at the Kowloon Magistracy on Saturday when the unemployed man was charged with larceny.

Inspector Shannon who prosecuted, said while Miss Cheng Yin-long and her companion was walking in Soy Street in the late afternoon on Friday, defendant came up from behind them and snatched the handbag from complainant. The victim and her friend at once gave chase and arrested defendant in Portland Street. Sanitary Inspector Luk Shiu-kau who was near the scene assisted in bringing defendant to the station.

Cheng Cheung pleaded guilty to the charge and was sentenced to six months' hard labour with 12 strokes of the cane.

TWO FIRES ON
SATURDAYBut No Damage
Reported

Three fire appliances from the Central Fire Brigade Station under Mr. Cash, were sent about 8 p.m. on Saturday to a spot just above Kennedy Road, where a fire broke out in a contractor's masonry, creating a blaze that could be seen for some distance away. The flames were extinguished in less than a quarter of an hour, and no casualty was reported.

In answer to calls by the telephone, fire engines from Tsim Sha Tsui on Saturday night hurried to Marcel Cafe, No. 70, Nathan Road. It was discovered on its arrival, that one of the "Neon-Light" signs was on fire. This was extinguished before any damage was caused.

THEFT OF PRAM

Ho Man, aged 18, unemployed, appeared before Mr. K. M. A. Barnett at the Kowloon Magistracy on Saturday on a charge of theft of a pram, property of Capt. Crookshank.

A detective was sent out to make enquiries at marine hawkers after the complainant had reported the loss to the police. Detective C240 saw defendant pushing the pram in Nam Cheung Street, and arrested him.

He was sentenced to 21 days imprisonment when he pleaded guilty to the charge. Detective Sgt. MacPherson prosecuted.

GOVERNMENT TENDERS

The Hong Kong Government is inviting tenders for asphaltic roofing of Government House, for major repairs to nullahs at Kai Tak Airport, for car shelters and latrine at the New Gao Stanley, and for a flush latrine at Shaui wan East.

Malayan University Prospects

"A Malayan University should prove an unqualified success, and its value in raising the educational facilities and status of the country very great," said Mr. S. H. Peek, a visitor from Shanghai when he was interviewed by a Tribune representative.

Mr. Peek is keenly interested in educational matters in the Far East, and urges the formation of a University in Malaya.

After 22 years in China he says, "Judged by results, every penny which has gone into the building up of the University of Hong Kong has been an excellent investment."

"Mr. Peek was very enthusiastic concerning the proposal to form a Malayan University. "I read your leading article," he said, referring to a leader on the University question, appearing in the Tribune of June 10, "and was greatly interested. I would certainly like to endorse your views on the principal question referred to, namely, the desirability of a Malayan University."

"Of course," he added, "as a visitor to your country I am not qualified to express an opinion on matters of detail, but on the broad question as to the benefits which would derive from the creation of the suggested University—having as a nucleus the existing Raffles, Medical and Agricultural Colleges—there can be very little room for argument."

"Your citation of the excellent work and influence of the Hong Kong University—not only in the Colony itself but throughout the length and breadth of China's provinces—is one to which I can add the emphasis of personal knowledge."

Inspiration Of The Coronation

The Archbishop of Canterbury writes in the Canterbury Diocesan Gazette:—

The Consecration and Crowning of the King and of the Queen are over. We must all be thankful that the great ceremony in Westminster Abbey unfolded itself in unbroken dignity, tranquillity, and beauty. Certainly it was a most wonderful and splendid spectacle. But it was much more than this: More fully I venture to say than at any previous Coronation, those who were present realized that it was a great and solemn religious act. They felt, as I have elsewhere said, in the midst of the splendour of things seen and temporal the nearness of things unseen and eternal. This sense of reverence was deepened by the demeanour of the King and Queen. I know that they themselves felt most deeply the spiritual meaning of the rites which they fulfilled with quiet dignity. I am assured by testimonies received from every part of the world that the spirit of reverence which filled the Abbey seems to have been in some strange way transmitted through the air to the vast multitudes who listened to the noble words of the services.

THE PEOPLE'S PART
Further, there was as never before a widespread recognition that in the consecration of their King the whole people were associated with him, that for them also as for him it was a new covenant of allegiance to the God of their fathers and to the Kingdom of Christ our Redeemer.

I cannot but think that all this was due in large measure to the months of preparation for the Coronation which followed the appeal to the nation entitled a Recall to Religion. The impression made by the great ceremony on the imagination and conscience of the nation was itself a striking proof of the place which religion still holds in the instincts of the people. Is it an exaggeration to say that for the time it raised our national life to a higher level? If so, let it not be a mere passing emotion. It is for the Church of Christ in town and village to raise that level still higher by the inspiration and strength of a new and steadfast loyalty, personal and public, to Christ the King and to His Kingdom.

I trust, therefore, that in our own diocese both clergy and laity will continue quietly and perseveringly the endeavour they have been called to make to deepen within the Church its grasp of the Christian faith and to bring to others who now stand apart its message of the Gospel of God's Grace.

WINNING THEIR SPURS

It is really astonishing how young players who have their spurs to win are creating a stir this season, writes a Home correspondent. Two northerners tried in county cricket for the first time recently are already setting people talking. Wilkinson, the Bolton player who began so well for Lancashire against New Zealand, and Hampshire, the former Manchester City and now Bristol City footballer, who had his opening test as a fast bowler in the big game between Yorkshire and Derbyshire, Yorkshire have let many players become good batsmen in other counties, but when do you remember them missing a bowler or promoter?

The case of Cordingley who went to Sussex many years ago, can be cited, but he was unlucky enough to have to compete with Wilfred Rhodes. That is a rare occurrence.

Hampshire who hails from Rotherham, impressed everyone as a fast bowler at Chesterfield, and he will certainly be thoroughly tried out.

Not for a long time have I seen so promising a right-arm slow leg spin bowler as Wilkinson, and it will surprise me if he does not make good. He has plenty of time

"Its graduates are to be found occupying positions of prominence all over the country, and their training to British standards of thoroughness and integrity has qualified them for posts of responsibility in Government, mercantile and other walks of life throughout China and the East."

"Judged by results, every penny which has gone into the building up of the University of Hong Kong has been an excellent investment."

FINANCIAL QUESTION
Asked what he thought of the financial question, Mr. Peek said: "An institution catering for the special needs of Malaya should prove an unqualified success, and its value in raising the educational facilities and status of the country very great."

"The question of cost cannot be a really serious factor in a country which has given wealth to so many public-spirited men, and I am sure the raising of funds would not present a great difficulty if the movement were properly sponsored."

In the interests of the rising generation it is to be hoped that the five representative organisations which have the matter under joint consideration will not let too much time slip through their fingers but will quickly decide to back the scheme with their united efforts and influence.

"Thereafter, a speedy tackling of the questions of finance and procedure should meet with assured success."

"The only regret they are likely to have," concluded Mr. Peek, "is that it was not put through earlier!"

THE PEOPLE'S PART
Further, there was as never before a widespread recognition that in the consecration of their King the whole people were associated with him, that for them also as for him it was a new covenant of allegiance to the God of their fathers and to the Kingdom of Christ our Redeemer.

I cannot but think that all this was due in large measure to the months of preparation for the Coronation which followed the appeal to the nation entitled a Recall to Religion. The impression made by the great ceremony on the imagination and conscience of the nation was itself a striking proof of the place which religion still holds in the instincts of the people. Is it an exaggeration to say that for the time it raised our national life to a higher level? If so, let it not be a mere passing emotion. It is for the Church of Christ in town and village to raise that level still higher by the inspiration and strength of a new and steadfast loyalty, personal and public, to Christ the King and to His Kingdom.

I trust, therefore, that in our own diocese both clergy and laity will continue quietly and perseveringly the endeavour they have been called to make to deepen within the Church its grasp of the Christian faith and to bring to others who now stand apart its message of the Gospel of God's Grace.

BAD NEWS OF JACK SHARP

Wimbledon speedway followers will be sorry to hear that Jack Sharp, the Australian international, is not expected to race again this season. He broke his left leg in a triple collision at Wimbledon earlier recently and the injury, I am told, is proving more serious than was at first thought. The accident was all the more unfortunate as it came when Sharp seemed to be running into form.

Wimbledon have two other stars in Geoff Pymar and Wai Phillips out of action with fractured left legs. Pymar, however, is making a good recovery and should be about again soon. The loss of star riders has given Reg Viktor, a young Tooting rider, his chance, and following a good display as reserve in the recent League match with West Ham, he has been given a regular place in the team as partner to Eric Collins, writes a Home correspondent.

before him, for he is only 21 years. He has a very easy action and runs up to the crease, brings his arm over from a good height, and keeps even a quick-footed batsman concentrated by reason of his good length.

BRITAIN'S AIR MIGHT

R.A.F. Spectacular Display

London, June 28.

The King and Queen to-day attended the Royal Air Force display at Hendon, which was the 18th of the series and a special Coronation display.

The special character of the display was marked by the number of aircraft participating, which represented something like one third of country's first line strength, by an impressive mass formation flight of 280 aeroplanes and by aerobatics exceeding in spectacular value even the most remarkable of the thrills staged in the past at Hendon.

A set piece showed a bombing attack on a dock where ships had steam up in anticipation of the rising tide and the opening of lock gates.

There was a very large attendance of the public and among other members of the Royal Family who were present, the Duke and Duchess of Kent arrived by aeroplane.

KING'S MESSAGE

After the air pageant at Hendon, the King sent the following message to the Air Secretary: "I heartily congratulate all ranks of the Royal Air Force on the splendid demonstrations of flying given at the Coronation Display to-day. During my long and highly prized association with the Royal Air Force, I have attended many displays but none that has testified more clearly to the efficiency and organizing ability of the service."

I appreciate the courage and determination with which the Royal Air Force are meeting the heavy demands made upon them. I look forward to seeing something of their daily work from time to time and in the meanwhile, the Queen and I send to all ranks our best wishes for their welfare."

VEXED QUESTION

Explanation By Archbishop

Warsaw, June 28.

A somewhat different aspect of the course of action adopted by the Archbishop of Cracow towards the question of the last resting place of the late Marshal Pilsudski, which has stirred up a conflict between Church and State, is revealed in an explanation given yesterday by the Archbishop himself.

A difficult position has been created, he says, by the visits to the remains, of persons of non-Catholic faith.

According to Canonical Law in the Polish State, when the President visit a cathedral he must be received by the Archbishop in pontifical robes.

CANONICAL LAW

When King Carol of Rumania visits the remains of Marshal Pilsudski, he will probably be accompanied by the President.

Canonical Law, however, forbids the Archbishop to receive non-believers or adherents of another faith in his pontifical robes.

Hence the Law placed the Archbishop in an exceedingly difficult position.

The "Tower" of Silver Bells, to which the late Marshal's coffin has been removed, is part of the Royal castle and is hence outside ecclesiastical control.

FINDING WAY OUT

It can thus be seen, says the Archbishop, that in ordering removal of the remains from the Cathedral to the Tower, he was only seeking a way out of the impasse.

Meanwhile, says a message from Bucharest, King Carol, accompanied by Crown Prince Michael, the Foreign Minister, M. Victor Antonescu, and the Under-Secretary for War, General Glatz, left for Warsaw yesterday.

OBSERVATION BY NEUTRALS

London, June 27.

Well informed circles confirm the rumours that the British and French governments will recommend to the Non-Intervention Committee, convening on Tuesday, that neutral observers be carried on board vessels engaged in the naval control scheme.

The British Government, will at the same time, it is learned, examine the demand made by General Franco for recognition as a belligerent power.

It is however, understood that the view is taken that Franco's

NAVAL CONTROL SCHEME

Early Meeting Called

London, June 28.

A meeting of the Chairman's Sub-Committee of the Non-Intervention Committee has been called for Tuesday morning when the first matter for consideration will be the Naval Control Scheme and it may be assumed, the British and French representatives will intimate the willingness of their Governments to all with their own ships, the gap left by the withdrawal of the German and Italian warships from patrol duties.

The question of the placing of neutral observers on the control ships will also be discussed.

If time permits the Committee will resume the discussion of the volunteers question and in particular, the British offer to facilitate an early start of withdrawal—British Wireless.

ANGLO-JAPANESE UNDERSTANDING

International Situation In The Far East

London, June 25.

"Definitely encouraging" signs of improvement in the international situation in the Far East were noted by Mr. Anthony Eden, British Foreign Secretary, when he replied in the foreign affairs debate to-day.

Preliminary Anglo-Japanese conversations had encouraged the hope that a more definite exchange of views would lead to further progress, he said.

Mr. Eden repeated, however, that any Anglo-Japanese understanding would not be effected at the expense of China.

The Imperial Conference delegates had unanimously agreed that a Pacific pact was a desirable objective and preliminary advances towards that end would shortly be made, he said, among the interested Governments. They must decide whether definite proposals could be usefully advanced.

NON-INTERVENTION POLICY

Rebutting the criticisms of Mr. David Lloyd George, former Liberal Prime Minister, who attacked the Government's non-intervention policy, Mr. Eden said that the honourable member from Carnarvon kept Russia in the background, whereas there was no doubt that the Russian contribution of war material to the Spanish Loyalists had been very large.

The non-intervention agreement had been in force eight months and no-one thought of denouncing it, Mr. Eden declared; not even Russia. No-one would denounce the agreement because they would have to face the alternative of unlimited support, and competition in arms and men, with attendant risks, conducted with the approval, and perhaps the active support, of rival states.

Mr. Eden doubted abolition of the non-intervention pact would necessarily benefit the Spanish Government as much as people believed.

FUTURE LINES OF POLICY

The British Government was in close consultation with France regarding the future lines of policy, he said. It was important to know the future German and Italian attitudes. However, inquiries had shown that these two Governments would participate in the non-intervention scheme except insofar as the naval control plan was concerned, he added.

There would be a meeting of the Non-Intervention Committee at which it was hoped they would learn the attitude of Germany and Italy, and if there was a willingness to co-operate they would make one more effort to see if this policy could not succeed.

Regarding the Leipzig incident, he said, there is a real divergence of view on the facts and Great Britain could not join in what would be a virtual execution of judgment without investigation. (The Opposition cheered at this point.)

If a similar incident occurred, with a British ship involved, the Government would be quite ready to accept an inquiry, Mr. Eden concluded.

Anglo-French Policy Towards Spain

Rome, June 25.
While authoritative circles express agreement with Mr. Neville Chamberlain's desire to solve the non-intervention crisis, it is understood that Italy will not agree to other powers taking over the Italian-German control zones in Spanish waters.
It will be recalled that Britain, France, Germany and Italy undertook to patrol the Spanish coast to prevent war materials and volunteers reaching the Spanish war zone. But as a result of the alleged attack on the German cruiser Leipzig, both Germany and Italy have withdrawn from the control scheme.
Nevertheless, Italy holds that if Britain and France take over the control zones German and Italian ships have left unguarded, their action must be considered as merely a private indication of Anglo-French policy towards Spain. Italy is not likely to consider the control patrol of these two powers as juridically valid.

COLIN CLIVE DEAD

Well-Known British Actor

Hollywood, June 25.
The death has occurred here, at the age of 37 years, of Colin Clive, the noted British stage and film actor.
Mr. Colin Clive was born at St. Malo, France, in January 1900, and educated at Stonyhurst College and Sandhurst. His father was Col. Colin Clive-Gregg, and it was intended that he also should follow a military career, but an accident to a leg while he was at Sandhurst disqualified him.
Turning to the stage, he was trained at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art and in 1919 played the part of Claude in "The Eclipse" at the Garrick Theatre, London. A provincial tour followed, in which Clive appeared in "The Law Divine," "Brown Sugar," "What Might Happen" and "Paddy the Next Best Thing." Three seasons with the Hull Repertory Co. gave him further wide experience and showed him to be an actor of great versatility.

FIRST SUCCESS

Clive's first success was as Capt. Stanhope in "Journey's End," produced at the Savoy, London, in January 1929. The next was the part of Michael Stern in "Let's Leave It at That," of which he was joint author with Jeanne de Casalis, whom he had married. Going to New York in December, 1930, he played Karl Ritter in "Overture," afterwards going to Hollywood and acting for films. His first picture was "Journey's End," produced with a mainly British cast in which he was the only actor who had played in the stage version. After having a leading part in "Frankenstein," he returned to England and appeared in the film "Lily Christine." On another visit to Hollywood he had leads in "The Stronger Sex," "Their Own Desire" and "Peg-o'-My Heart."
In December, 1933, an unusual tribute to his ability was paid in New York. He had been playing there in "Eight Bells" and under the rules relating to foreign actors he should not have appeared again for six months. But on appeal to the Equity Association he was allowed to play the lead in "The Lake" on the ground that his doing so would give employment to 25 or 26 American actors.

BRITISH FOREIGN POLICY

Mr. Anthony Eden's Comprehensive Statement

London, June 26.
In the course of a lengthy debate in the House of Commons on British foreign policy yesterday, the Foreign Secretary, Mr. Anthony Eden, seized the opportunity to make a comprehensive statement on the motives determining Government actions in all parts of the world, particularly Spain.
Mr. Eden admitted that the non-intervention policy had not yet worked satisfactorily but emphasised that in spite of that no power had yet denounced the non-intervention agreement not even the Soviet.
UNRESTRICTED COMPETITION
In other words, Europe had approved the policy of non-intervention because the alternative was unrestricted competition in the supply of weapons, and men to Spain, in which case the peril of a general conflict would become gigantic.
Mr. Eden referred to the Leipzig incident and declared that the British Government regretted that it had not been possible to arrive at a four-power agreement in the matter.

BRITAIN WILL NOT HELINQUISH PLAN

The British Government had been unable to participate in the proposed naval demonstration because the Spanish Government not only denied the charge brought but asserted that it was able to prove that its submarines at the time of the attack on the German cruiser were all in port.
Mr. Eden hinted at the fear that there was a danger in spite of all efforts made, that the non-intervention policy might not be maintainable but declined to say more except that the British Government would not relinquish non-intervention as it was fully conscious of the danger involved in abandoning this policy.

LOVE ON THE RUN

Romance runs rampant, adventure has its fling and love conquers all in the delightful new M-G-M comedy melodrama, "Love on the Run" which came to the Majestic screen last night. Teaming those two exhilarating personalities, Joan Crawford and Clark Gable, in a flashing tale of modern doings by ultra-modern people, the new picture provides excitement and laughter in an enthralling melange of an heiress, a fortune-hunting nobleman, two American correspondents and a trace of European crooks.

THE CENTRAL THEATRE

Reck Story will present his latest Hollywood Non-Stop Revue at the Central Theatre next Tuesday, and we learn that it is one of the most cheery vaudeville shows seen for a considerable time.

Reck Story was here before with a show called "The Nine O'clock Hollywood Highlights" and it is only half as good it should prove a very great success.

Comedies, fast, stepping dancers, pretty girls and catchy song hits are just a few of the attractions we shall see at the Central Theatre next Tuesday.

RADIO SURPRISE

Clifford Huntsman On The Air

Radio listeners had an unexpected pleasure on Friday night when they heard the limpid strains of Debussy, floating on the air and found they were listening to a short piano recital given by that delightful pianist Clifford Huntsman, who gave a similar recital when he was here a couple of months ago.

Full marks to B.B.W. for securing his services so promptly, for he was only in the Colony for twenty-four hours, on his way down to Singapore by the P. & O. Naldera.

Mr. Huntsman is a great Debussy enthusiast having studied the works of her husband with the late Madame Debussy, in Paris.

Hurrying on board just as the bells began to ring for passengers ashore, Mr. Huntsman stepped aside to avoid going under a ladder, and walked right into a heap of gold-dust, where somebody had apparently spilled a whole jar of it on the planks of the wharf.

Quite a lot of it stuck to Clifford Huntsman's shoes. If that does not mean good-luck we intend to give up being superstitious.

GREAT PARTY CONFERENCE

Washington, June 28.
Over 100 Democratic Senators and Representatives landed from small boats on Jefferson Island, famous summer resort of American society, to attend President F. D. Roosevelt's great party conference. Newspapers call it "a star love feast."

The President's guests included most of the Democratic Party's regulars, but a handful of irreconcilables, like Senator Carter Glass, studiously ignored his invitation to discuss their grievances and criticisms.

Everyone will have an opportunity to talk personally with President Roosevelt, who will also be available on Saturday and Sunday as other Congressmen arrive.

The press is barred from the Jefferson Island conference.

GOVERNMENT'S FOREIGN POLICY

Berlin, June 28.
When Mr. Neville Chamberlain, British Prime Minister, outlined the Government's foreign policy in the House of Commons, and told members that he considered Germany had showed admirable restraint in "closing" the Leipzig incident, he made a good impression in German political circles.

His speech has done much towards removing some of the bitterness prevailing regarding the press comments in foreign newspapers which followed the German decision to withdraw from the naval control scheme in Spanish waters. It is even suggested that Mr. Chamberlain's speech may bring Baron Konstantin von Neurath, German Foreign Minister, to London, earlier than was expected.

Baron von Neurath cancelled his engagement to call upon Mr. Anthony Eden, British Foreign Secretary, when the British Government failed to support the German demand for a demonstration in Spanish waters by neutral fleets following the alleged attack on a German cruiser by Spanish Government submarines.

Some years ago, Harry Leon Wilson, one of the foremost American novelists, wrote a story called "Bunker Bean." Doubtless most of you have read it—the story of a likeable young chap who was well equipped, both mentally and physically, but who suffered so from an underestimation of his own abilities that he was fair game for anyone who wanted to make use of him. Now, based on this play by Lee Wilson Dodd, the story has been brought to the screen as an EKO Radio picture—and a merry affair it is! You will have the pleasure of seeing "Bunker Bean" on the screen at the Star Theatre to-day and to-morrow.

FAR EAST SITUATION Incouraging Signs Of Improvement

London, June 25.
The Foreign Secretary, speaking in the debate on foreign affairs initiated in the House of Commons to-day by the Liberal Leader, Sir Archibald Sinclair, replied to his questions on the situation in the Far East, where Mr. Eden said he thought it was true to say there were certain definite and encouraging signs of improvement.

Conversations had been proceeding with the representatives of the Japanese Government on the possibility of better understanding and a better ordering of Anglo-Japanese relations generally, and these conversations, so far as they had gone, encouraged the hope that it might be possible at a very early date to begin an examination of concrete proposals.

ASSURANCE GIVEN CHINA

"Mention of Anglo-Japanese conversations in the past has given rise to anxiety in certain quarters, that an Anglo-Japanese understanding may be effected at the expense of China and I take this opportunity of renewing once more the assurance I have already given on more than one occasion, that the British Government have no intention of doing anything of that kind."

Our relations with the Chinese government are excellent. What we hope for and what we will work for is an increase of friendship and mutual trust between all the nations of the Far East. We are convinced that an understanding with Japan would, under certain conditions, contribute to that end."

PACIFIC PACT SOUNDINGS

Referring to the proposal for a Pacific Pact of Non-Aggression, Mr. Eden said it was a matter which must be approached with some circumspection and it might be unwise to attempt any negotiation until they knew a little more clearly what were the views of other governments.

"They hoped shortly to make preliminary soundings among the interested governments, after which they would be in a position to decide whether any definite proposals could be made with a reasonable chance of success."

CENTRAL EUROPE QUESTION

Mr. Eden then turned to Central Europe, declaring:

"We cannot, even if we would, disinterest ourselves in the course of events there any more than we can disinterest ourselves in the course of events any where else on the world's surface as conditions are so-day."

"Our interest in peace is universal. We realise that in trade and economic matters other nations have a closer interest than we in the Danube Basin although we should like to see a gradual removal of trade barriers in that area. But our interest in peace there and elsewhere must be unceasing."

FORCE FOR HELP

Mr. Eden repeated the statement as to the use of British arms made in his Leamington speech and subsequently on several occasions. He ended the statement with the words:

"Our arms may be used in bringing help to any victim of aggression where in our judgment it would be appropriate under the terms of the Covenant. I use the word 'may' because there is no automatic obligation to take military action. That is the definition accepted by this country and generally understood by the nations of Europe."

THE SPANISH QUESTION

The major part of the Foreign Secretary's speech, however, was devoted to Spain.

After explaining the position regarding refugee ships, he addressed himself to the Labour Party demand for the termination of the non-intervention policy.

The alternative said Mr. Eden, was unlimited competition in arms and men. With that would come an infinite danger of a clash between the outside Powers.

He contended that the Labour Party, whose sympathy was with the Spanish Government side in the civil war were miscalculating, and mistaken in the idea that the lifting of non-intervention embargoes would benefit Valencia. While he admitted the Government were not satisfied with the working of the non-intervention agreement, he reminded the House that it had gone a long way to check assistance to either side from the outside and declared the truth to be that, given goodwill among the nations, there was no reason whatever why the existing schemes should not be made to work satisfactorily.

The British Government was in close consultation with the French on the problem of future policy.

It was all important to know the German and Italian attitudes. Inquiries were being made and a meeting of the non-intervention committee would be held shortly. A further effort must be made and it had not been made easier by the events of the last few days.

There was a gap in the naval control to fill. There was the question of volunteers.

LEIPZIG INCIDENT

The Government regretted the failure to reach an agreement on the Leipzig Incident. It was not for want of trying, but it was impossible to join in a naval demonstration off Valencia in advance of an inquiry in view of the Spanish Government's denials and the offer of facilities for verifying the statements they made. To have done so would have been virtually an execution of judgment without investigation.

It was to misconceive the issue to represent the demand for an inquiry into the contradictory testimony as a refusal of credence to the sincerity or the goodwill of German officers.

Under the rule of law, conflicting evidence must be investigated impartially.

The lesson of the events was that Europe and the world would always be at the mercy of an international incident until there was general acceptance of the rule of law.

In conclusion, Mr. Eden said he was not going to contemplate a breakdown of the non-intervention policy until, in consultation with the French Government, they had seen what possibilities there were in the new and more difficult situation confronting them. The Government was acutely conscious of the dangers to peace in the abandonment of non-intervention and intended to persevere by every means in its power with a view to preserving the peace of Europe.—British Wireless.

BRITISH PREMIER'S SPEECH

Rome, June 26.

The inspired Italian press makes great play to-day with the metaphor used by the British Premier, Mr. Neville Chamberlain, in his speech in the House of Commons likening conditions in Europe to "high mountains where an incalculable movement or even an utterance may start an avalanche of snow which is perilously poised overhead."

Signor Mussolini's personal newspaper announces publication of a special article to-morrow entitled "The Shout and the Avalanche."

"Popolo d'Italia" having rejected the suggestion of France and Britain filling the gap in the control brought about by the Italian-German desertion, says that Mr. Chamberlain in his second point on withdrawal, presupposes collaboration and confidence between the four Western nations which recent events have broken.

PRAISE FOR PREMIER

Berlin, June 26.

The speech of the British Premier, Mr. Neville Chamberlain, on the debate has been received with gratification throughout Germany.

"Mr. Chamberlain shows appreciation of the German viewpoint," declares the "Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung" while the "Berliner Tageblatt" speaks of "Appreciation of Germany's moderation."

The "Berliner Lokal-Anzeiger," which publishes its comments on Mr. Chamberlain's speech under the head "London Shows Comprehension of Germany's Attitude," says that the Premier showed greater understanding of the German viewpoint than is contained in any British newspaper.

The paper then asks: "Who was responsible for the anti-German campaign in the English press for the last few days and who promoted the views of the Premier being published by organs which form public opinion?"—Transocean News Service.

GERMAN COMMENT

Favourably Impressed
By Premier's Speech

Berlin, June 26.

Judging from the general tone of comments in this morning's newspapers, Berlin has received the declaration made by the British Premier, Mr. Neville Chamberlain, in the House of Commons yesterday with a great deal of satisfaction.

"In his first statement to the House of Commons on foreign policy, the new Premier has shown that he intends to apply in this field the same methods that have characterised his activity in the many years in which he has served as Chancellor of the Exchequer—a calm and dispassionate view of the situation undeterred by prejudices or sentimentalities," says the "Voelkischer Beobachter."

The "Frankfurter Zeitung" agrees with the British Premier when he describes the situation as being very grave but not hopeless.

OBSTINACY BY BRITAIN

The paper adds, however, that the gravity of the present situation has been caused by the obstinacy with which the British Government refused to partake in the demonstration of solidarity in the face of attacks made on control ships in Spanish waters, thereby creating a state of affairs which the British Government had striven to avoid, namely, break up of the front set up by the big Powers into two groups.

"That Mr. Chamberlain allowed that to happen is a puzzle to us and this puzzle is by no means solved when in the course of his speech he pointed to the possibility of German seamen having been mistaken," declares the paper.

TO PAY REGARD TO OPPOSITION

The article concludes by remarking that even if the British were left with a modicum of doubt, Britain should have backed up Germany on the grounds that European collaboration is a more important factor than the need to pay regard to the sensibilities of Mr. Clement Attlee (leader of the Labour opposition in the Commons) and other British admirers of Valencia and Moscow.—Transocean News Service.

L.C.C. LOAN FAILURE

Poor Public Response

London, June 26.

No less than 89 per cent. of the £10,000,000 loan issued by the London County Council has remained in the hands of the underwriters.

Only £1,100,000 of the total amount was applied for, although conditions were very favourable for investors.

Actually it had not been expected that the whole amount would be subscribed at once but the City was completely surprised that public response should have been so small.

The first quotation for the 3 1/2 per cent. loan, issued at 100 1/2, was no less than 1 3/4 points below issue price, although there was a recovery later to one point below issue price.—Transocean News Service.

CHURCH AND NAZI YOUTH

Berlin, June 26.

A decree issued yesterday by the Reichs youth leader, Baldur von Schirach, finally adjusts the relations between the Hitler Youth and Christian denominations.

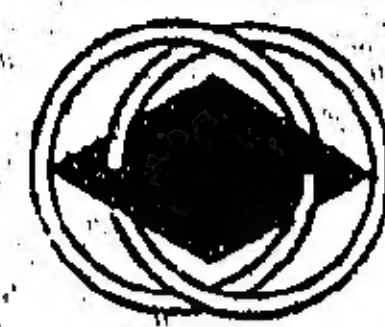

The decree provides that "in recognition of the spiritual duties of the Churches and other religious communities," leave can be granted to members of the Hitler Youth for special Church functions such as devotional exercises, pilgrimages, confirmation classes, traditional Church festivals and similar occasions.

All local Hitler Youth authorities are forbidden to refuse leave for denominational or religious reasons, or to discriminate between applications for leave according to denominations or religious communities.

MUST SEEK LEAVE

On the other hand, members of the Hitler Youth will be punished under the disciplinary code of the Youth if they participate in such special Church functions without having applied for leave.

The decree further provides that too many applications for leave for religious reasons may provide reason for refusal.—Transocean News Service.

ROYAL NAVY
THREE LAUNCHES

Three new ships of the 1935 programme, two destroyers and a mining tender, were launched recently. There was a twin launch at the Vickers-Armstrongs yard, Walker-on-Tyne, of the destroyers Afridi and Cossack, the first of the new Tribal class.

The Afridi was named by Lady Foster, wife of General Sir Richard Foster, late Adjutant-General, Royal Marines; and the Cossack by Mrs. Goodall, wife of Mr. S. V. Goodall, Director of Naval Construction.

These destroyers are of 1,850 tons, compared with the 1,350 tons of the Intrepid class in the same programme, and are armed with eight instead of four 4.7in. guns—the most powerful gun armament ever mounted in British destroyers. They are, however, fitted with only four torpedo tubes, instead of 10. The designed speed is 36 knots, an increase of half a knot, and the horse-power is increased from 34,000 to 44,000.

H.M.S. Plover was launched at the works of William Denny and Brothers, Limited, Dumbarton, Dumbarton. She is of 764 tons and 14 knots speed, and is to be used as a tender to the Min'n School. Eight earlier vessels of the Navy have been called the Plover since 1853.

ROBBERY IN CITY

Lorry Used By Raiders?

The William Grocery Store were the victims of a robbers' raid on Saturday morning, as a result of which a huge quantity of dry goods was stolen, the total loss being estimated at $2,000.

Upon arrival at the store on the day in question, the proprietor discovered that the lock on the front door had been wrenched off.

Everything inside seemed to be in order, but closer examination revealed that a quantity of boxes and cartons of provisions to the value of $2,000 were missing from the rear of the store and the cockpit where they had been stored.

The store had just taken in a new supply and this was apparently known to the thieves for they did not seem to have worried themselves over the provisions on the shelves.

It is believed that the gang of shop raiders who carried out the unusually successful coup used a lorry to convey the stolen goods.

Sub-Inspector L. R. Whant is in charge of investigations.

ANOTHER ARMED ROBBERY

Another armed robbery was daringly carried out in the Mongkok district on Saturday when it was reported that a quantity of jewellery and United States money, to a total value of about $500 (local currency) were taken away by the robbers.

The victim was Chau Pau, Supervisor of the Chinese crew on the s.s. President Hoover, residing at No. 10, Sai Yeung Choi Street.

Shortly after 2 p.m. on Saturday, after Chau and his wife had left the house for the ship, three men, armed with daggers, gained entrance by deceiving the two servants with an imaginary letter of introduction to the victim, from alleged friends. They then threatened the inmates with their weapons and thoroughly ransacked the place.

The robbers, who seemed well acquainted with the household movements, made their escape up Stanton Street.

HEALTH RETURNS

Three cases of enteric fever and one of dysentery were reported to the local Health Authorities for the 24 hours ended on Friday.

CONSULAR FINDING

Peiping Tragedy Echo

Peiping, June 28.

Stating that the evidence was inconclusive as regards the identity of the murderer, the British Consul, Mr. Fitzmaurice, yesterday returned a verdict of murder by a person or persons unknown in the inquest on Pamela Werner, the 19-year-old British girl found murdered in particularly ghastly circumstances on January 10.

No witnesses were called at the resumed inquest this morning.

It will be recalled that the terribly mutilated body of Miss Werner, who was the daughter of Mr. E. T. C. Werner, formerly British Consul at Poochow, was discovered only 250 yards from her home.

Miss Werner was on her way home by bicycle but never arrived there. Her body was found in a wide ditch at the foot of the towering fifty-foot high city walls.

The case took a sensational turn with the detention by the police for several days of an unnamed foreigner.

It was alleged that in his home were found a dagger, a piece of a handkerchief and a pair of shoes, all stained with blood.

The articles were examined by a pathologist but the foreigner was later released by Captain Botham, of the Tientsin police force, who was in charge of the case.

A NEW AIR ROUTE

Soviet airmen have achieved a remarkable feat in crossing the top of the globe to establish a direct air-route from Moscow to San Francisco. It is true that bad luck compelled the airmen to land at Vancouver but by that time they had accomplished the unknown and most difficult part of their journey. In just over two days the Soviet plane has flown from Europe to America across the North Pole—a bold statement of fact which not so long ago would have found more suitable place in a Jules Verne romance. It is proper that the Soviet Embassy should remind the world that the exploit is not the product of a sudden impulse.

Two years ago an attempt to cross the Pole had to be abandoned owing to the mechanical defects of the plane then selected. Apart from that the enterprise has involved ten years' intensive scientific research for its object is to establish a quick direct route of communication between Russia and America. Obviously this shortening of the air distance between the Old and New World may well throw a different light on the problem of the Atlantic crossing. Sir Henry Tizard, recently, as Chairman of the Aeronautical Research Committee attempted to make a guess at the period likely to elapse before commercial aeroplanes could fly the Atlantic regularly. He put it at a minimum of ten and a maximum of twenty years but added that aeroplane experts would call him pessimistic and airship enthusiasts would call him optimistic. Whether the route by way of the Pole will eliminate the need for taking the longer way across the Atlantic must depend on factors of which at present little is known. The Soviet airmen have undoubtedly discovered some of them. It remains now for the discoveries to be submitted to the test of strictly scientific examination.

RACING DRIVER'S CRASH

Mervyn White Badly Injured

C. Mervyn White, the English racing driver, was seriously injured at Cork during a practice run for the International Car Race.

White had just taken over from an auxiliary driver. After hitting a ditch near the pit bend the car rebounded, struck the opposite kerb, and came to rest beside the unconscious driver, who had received extensive head injuries. He was taken to hospital, and it was stated that he was still unconscious, that his skull was not fractured, but that he had severe scalp wounds and concussion. His condition it was added, was "very critical."

It was at the same spot in last year's race that White had a narrow escape, when his car hit the ditch after adding a double somersault, righted itself and plunged forward on the course.

CHARITY GALA CONCLUDES

Chung Shing's Effort For Famine Relief

The charity swimming gala at the Chung Shing Bathing Club concluded last night. Altogether about $2,000 has been collected, including donations by members, during the three nights of the gala. The money will be for famine relief in North China.

A large gathering was present at the Club last night to witness the swimming events and fire works display.

Exhibitions in the back stroke were given by the Interpreter, Lau Po-hei, and Lau Yuk-wing the Chinese National Swimming Champion.

A life-saving exhibition was given by three groups. An exhibition was also given by Norman Lee over hundred yards. He swam against Ng Chul-sha and Yueng Yui-kwan who each swam fifty yards. Lee's time was 50.4/5 secs.

After this a drill display was given by members of the Club.

WATER POLO

In a water-polo game the Royal Ulster Rifles drew with the Chung Shing Bathing Club, the score being three goals all. Ng Lin-man scored all three goals for the Chinese. Jones, Hamilton, and Newman replied for the soldiers. As a memento the ball used in the game was given to the visiting team.

As a grand finale a brilliant fire works display was given from a dragon boat, within a few yards of the Club.

700 YEARS OLD SCHOOL

Dates Back To The 13th Century

The Grammar School at Norwich is first mentioned in 1240 in a case appearing in the 'Coxford Priory Charters'. It is suggested that the school existed considerably earlier than this date. Though it is doubtful if it is as old as the bishopric of Norwich, as is sometimes stated, it undoubtedly is one of the oldest grammar schools in England.

The present school is a re-foundation of the time of Edward VI. It occupies a range of buildings, including the fourteenth-century chapel, between the Erpingham Gate and the west door of the Cathedral facing the Close.

CRYPT USED AS CELLARS

Originally the school was entirely contained within the chapel, formerly the Carnary of the monastic attendants who lived within the precincts. It was founded in 1316, and taken over by the Grammar School in 1553, six years after the Royal Charter of Edward VI was granted.

While the school occupied the greater part of the Carnary, or chapel, the crypt beneath it, where the bones of many well-known people had reposed before the Dissolution, was divided up and let as cellars. They were used by the shopkeepers, who had their booths and stalls running down the edge of the Close to the west door of the Cathedral.

This curious arrangement persisted for more than 200 years, until the school claimed and found use for the crypt, first as a gymnasium and then as a library. Finally, as the school extended and new buildings were erected, the ancient Carnary of the monks returned to its original purpose and became the school chapel, and as such it is still in use.

CROWNED QUEEN ANNE

The records of the school are remarkably complete and contain many noted names of headmasters and scholars over a long period. Thomas Tension, who was a scholar in the seventeenth century, became vicar of St. Martin-in-the-Fields, then Archbishop of Canterbury and crowned Queen Anne and George I.

Nelson attended for about a term before being transferred to another Grammar School at N. Walsham. John Crome, the painter, was a pupil towards the end of the eighteenth century. Under the head-mastership of Edward Valpy, between 1811 and 1829, James Brooke, who became the Rajah of Sarawak, and George Henry Burrow, the novelist, were contemporary scholars.

This was the period in the history of the school when a great revival took place, and from eight scholars in 1810 the numbers steadily rose under Valpy to nearly 300. The school has progressed ever since.

HOLY COMMUNION FOR THOSE DIVORCED

BISHOP OF BIRMINGHAM'S DEFENCE

TEST OF "AN OPEN AND NOTORIOUS EVIL LIVER"

The Bishop of Birmingham (Dr. E. W. Barnes), speaking at the Birmingham Diocesan Conference on June 8 on the subject of marriage and Holy Communion, said that any circumstances that endangered the stability of family life were the concern of the whole community. Christians would always desire to uphold, so far as was possible in a sadly imperfect world, Christ's ideal of the lifelong union of man and wife.

By reaction against prevailing laxity they must expect to find, especially among the clergy, those who took a rigorist attitude. There were, in fact, some who would abolish divorce altogether, though there were few who did not realise that such a policy was impracticable. There were others who would go so far as to excommunicate for the rest of their lives all innocent or guilty, who after divorce should marry again.

He had seen with much interest a list of some forty clergy of the diocese who urged this course as against a decision reached with two dissentients by the Bishops of the Province of Canterbury.

He would ask: Was such lifelong excommunication possible or desirable? Would it advantage the Church or the community?

RULE OF EXCLUSION

He reminded his hearers that by the rules of the Church a person could only be repelled from the Holy Communion if he were "an open and notorious evil-liver, or have done any wrong to his neighbour by word or deed, so that the congregation be thereby offended," and the Bishop ultimately should be the judge. Most certainly an innocent person who had remarried after divorce could not be excluded under such a rule.

He doubted whether a guilty party to a divorce suit who was subsequently living faithfully with a new partner could be excluded. A public advertisement of any intention of excommunication could carry the possibility of severe legal penalties.

Supposing that they were free to make a rule of lifelong excommunication of all divorced persons.

innocent or guilty, who had married again. Would they raise the moral standards of the community? Would they advantage the Church?

A "MEANS OF GRACE"

As he saw the matter, the Sacraments were, in the old language, means of grace. They hoped and believed that, by partaking of the Holy Communion they were enabled to live better lives. Did they not wish those Churchpeople whose first marriage had been wrecked, to live soberly and faithfully in a new union which they might form? Should not the Church be willing to give them all help possible? It was not that they should be lax in their loyalty to Christ's teaching. Their witness to Christ's ideal of lifelong union was constantly affirmed in their reading of Scripture and in the marriage service.

NEED OF MORAL HELP

"Further," the Bishop continued, "does it harm me if I know that a man who has done wrong in the past goes to Communion with me? I am not so perfect that I can condemn others. Admission to Communion is a confession of need of moral help, not a certificate of moral excellence. Christ came to call not the righteous but sinners to repentance."

"In repentance we cannot blot out the past or renew a union that, only too often, has been desecrated. All that is possible is to make of the new union a stable marriage in which children, if there be any, shall be 'Christianly and virtuously brought up.'"

"To that end, if those who, after divorce, had remarried, sought God's help in Holy Communion, I could not bring myself to refuse them."

"I trust that those here who disagree with me will pardon me for having thus spoken. A policy adopted by an overwhelming number of the bishops is being challenged. It is but proper that I should make clear the grounds on which I support it."

Referring to the Church Extension Appeal, the Bishop said that $299,000 had been raised, leaving only $28,000 to raise.

BIRTH CONTROL

The Ethical View

News from New York states that the American Medical Association, for the first time, has recognised the medical practice of birth control, comments the 'Malaya Tribune'. The United States is always a pioneer of reforms and new experiments. Her traditionally democratic and liberal outlook has enabled her to adopt measures which other nations would consider premature. In most countries today, contraception is still regarded as a criminal offence and many of its exponents have found themselves in gaol for the propagation of such methods. However, this question can be approached from two points of view—the economic and the ethical.

From the point of view of economics, if the present rate of birth is allowed to continue, with the death rate remaining about the same, a time will come when the world will be threatened with the danger of over-population. This in turn will accelerate the unemployment problem, affect the marginal utility of money, lower the national standard of livelihood, and above all, dislocate the whole present-day economic structure. According to Malthus' theory on population, the world would have long become an intolerable place to live in, if it were not for the presence of certain destructive forces such as war, pestilence, famine, plague, and other disasters.

From the ethical point of view, it is argued by the humanitarians, chiefly those belonging to different religious sects, that birth control is a direct violation of the law of nature, and that it should not be used except where medically ordered. Masquerading as a family friend, they say, it has done more harm than good; it is the cause of the degeneration of the human race, bringing in its train a slackening of morals. Consequently, people have become more licentious just because of the fact that 'vice' can now be protected from detection simply by the application of contraceptive methods.

NATIONAL POLICIES

Situation Well In Hand

"The Central Authorities have the internal and external situation well in hand, and national policies are being carried out smoothly in Nanking," declared Dr. Chou Lou, member of the standing committee of the Kuomintang Central Executive Committee, in an interview with foreign correspondents in Canton on Saturday.

As Chancellor of the National Sun Yat-sen University, Dr. Chou came back to Canton to adjust the affairs of the university, which was handed to his charge in 1925 by the late Dr. Sun Yat-sen.

The Kuomintang leader, stated at Kuling he met General Chiang Kai-shek, President of the Executive Yuan, who is fully restored to health. General Chiang called the Kuling meetings to acquaint the visitors with the achievements and policies of the National Government and to seek the views of the general public on national problems.

The National People's Assembly will be held in Nanking on November 11, Dr. Chou said.

In spite of his devotion to Sun Yat-sen University, Chancellor Chou regretted that his illness prevented the enforcement of his second phase of the six-year plan. The first phase, devoted largely to the construction of new buildings in Shek Pei is completed, he said, thanks to the financial support of the Central and Kwangtung authorities.

"Improvement of the academic standing of the University is the present objective of my administration," the statesman continued. "I shall remain in Canton for some time to look into the affairs of the University before I go to Nanking again."

There is truth in both views and the argument may go on for ever. It is left to the discretion of the individual to adopt the course which he thinks is right.

Attacks On Spanish Nationalist Troops

Valencia, June 27.
A Republican Spanish Army report issued on Saturday states that attacks had been made on Nationalist Spanish troops in Madrid in the suburbs of Carabanchel and Usera while skirmishes had occurred at the "bridge of Frenchmen." Red troops claim to have inflicted great losses on the enemy through rifle and machine-gun fire.
In an engagement on the Guadajara front Nationalist cavalry squadrons were almost completely cut to pieces. Regarding operations in north Spain Red troops occupied positions at Casa Mores and La Crestada Rosperos, the Nationalists losing 40 killed and a number of prisoners.
At Santander only rifle and artillery fire was exchanged.—Transocean News Service.

GOLDEN BELLS

Golden Wedding Presents

Queen Mary attended an afternoon party at the home of the Duke and Duchess of Portland in Grosvenor-square, W., recently, held in celebration of the golden wedding of three peers and their wives:
The Marquess and Marchioness of Salisbury;
The Earl and Countess of Kenmare; and
Lord and Lady Desborough.
All have ranked among Queen Mary's friends for many years. The first to be married were Lord and Lady Desborough, then Mr. William Grenfell and Miss Ethel Fane, in the February of Queen Victoria's Jubilee year.
In the April Viscount Castle-rosse, now the Earl of Kenmare, and the Hon. Elizabeth Baring were married; and in May the Marquess of Salisbury, then Viscount Cranborne, M.P., married Lady Cicely Alice Gore. King Edward VII and Queen Alexandra, then Prince and Princess of Wales, were present at Lord Salisbury's wedding.
FAMILIES' REUNION
The Duke and Duchess of Portland, host and hostess at the party, will themselves be celebrating their golden wedding in two years' time.
Each of the three couples were presented with a golden bell by a committee of their friends, headed by Countess Grey. The 10 surviving children and 17 grandchildren of the three couples were present at the party, which was limited to the families and close friends, several of whom had been present at all three weddings.
Queen Mary, dressed in a pearl-grey gown, grey turban, and grey and silver brocade coat, with grey fox, arrived with Mabel Countess of Airlie. Her Majesty stayed nearly an hour.

MR. R. MacDONALD ON HIS RECORD

"I Have Done What I Promised"

Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, in an interview published in the Paris newspaper "Intransigent" on the occasion of his retirement, enumerates the points in the Socialist party programme achieved by the National Government, states the Paris correspondent of the "Daily Telegraph."
"I have never renounced my ideas, my principles, or my programme," he states. "With the National Government I have done what I said I would do when I was at the head of the Labour party."
"Unemployment has declined— all the Labour Government could do was to borrow, borrow, borrow—the London Passenger Transport Board has been created; the mines will be nationalised; in the sphere of foreign politics the Labour programme has been applied. We have granted autonomy to Egypt. Legislation liberating India has been voted."
Referring to his motives in forming the National Government, Mr. MacDonald said: "Karl Marx was never a source of inspiration for me. Socialism in my eyes is not an economic doctrine, but the next stage of civilisation."
"The Labour victory of 1924 was not an economic victory. When in 1931 the Labour party, thinking only of political advantages, refused to follow its own convictions by collaborating in the work of national union, it lost its soul. It merely interested itself in the things which dictators tried to establish in Europe: Force, numbers, constraint and boycott. It has become a powerful movement."
Referring to his decision not to accept a title, Mr. MacDonald said: "How could I bear the people in my homeland, who have called me 'James' since I was a lad, call me 'Lord'?"

MR. EDEN'S ASSURANCE GIVES SATISFACTION

Nanking Opinion On Anglo-Japanese Talks

Nanking, June 27.
Mr. Anthony Eden's reassurance in the House of Commons yesterday that Anglo-Japanese understanding will not be effected at China's expense produced a very favourable impression in the capital.
Satisfaction was also expressed in Chinese official circles over the remarks of influential persons outside the British Government to the effect that an Anglo-Japanese arrangement could not involve repudiation of the League resolution relating to Manchukuo.

Such remarks are held to indicate that the British Government is supported by opinion in the United Kingdom in its efforts to improve the Far Eastern situation in the spirit of League principles. The Chinese people emphasise two points at the forthcoming

Anglo-Japanese conversations, firstly any understanding relating to China must respect China's sovereign rights and territorial integrity, and secondly, China should be consulted in all questions touching her interests and welfare.—Reuter.

ANCIENT HISTORY UNRAVELLED

Annual Report Of Raffles Museum

How the prehistory of Malaya is slowly being built up from ancient remains in the upcountry states is told in part in the report of the Director of Raffles Museum for 1936.
The main features of the second year's programme of prehistoric research under the auspices of the Carnegie Corporation of New York (says Mr. Chasen) were three excavations, one in Perlis and two in Perak.
The Assistant Curator (Mr. H. D. Collings), excavated four slab-graves, three on Government land at Slim River and one on Sungai Krut Estate, Sungai. The graves, which probably belong to the Early (Malayan) Iron age of the early centuries A. D. and may have been made by a people of Indian origin, yielded a large amount of pottery beads and iron tools.
The specimens from Sungai Krut Estate, Mr. B. K. Malleison, STONE AGE REMAINS.
The Assistant Curator then went on to Perlis and with the permission of the State Government, excavated a cave in a limestone hill at Chuping. The collections obtained included a series of tools made of bone and antler: such artifacts have not hitherto been recorded from the Malay Peninsula although they are known from Indo-China and Java.
The age of this culture is at present not determinable but there seem to be indications that it occurred fairly late in the Malayan Stone Age.
After the excavations of Gua Kerbau, Perak (1926-7) and G. K. Pah, Province Wellesley (1934) it was necessary to excavate more to the south in order to provide a link in the proposed chain of excavations, from north to south, on the west of the main mountain range forming the backbone of the Malay Peninsula.

MOST IMPORTANT EXCAVATION
Mr. H. D. Noone of the Perak Museum, Taiping, therefore dug trial trenches in several caves and eventually the Gua 'Esti', south-east of Sungai Siput was selected for systematic excavation. Work was started at the end of April and lasted until the middle of September.
For the first two months Mr. H. D. Noone and Dr. P. V. Van Stein Callenfels, O.B.E., worked together, but for the remaining period the former collaborator carried on alone in the absence of the latter in Europe.
Although the collections obtained have not yet been worked out in detail it is already certain that this excavation is one of the most important ever made in British Malaya.
The top-most recent layers yielded evidence of a human occupation by men not improbably the immediate ancestors of the extant jungle tribes of the Malay Peninsula. In the middle layers an older race with the custom of secondary-burial was represented, while the lowest layers show some affinity with the Melanesoid cultures revealed in previous excavations at Gua Kerbau in Perak and at Samping in East Java.
From the cultural stratification of this excavation it would appear that the Melanesoid wave of peo-

Further progress was made in the "Hall of Asiatic Prehistory." The installation of furniture was completed and now the exhibitions are beginning to take shape. DOYLE SATISFIES CONTROL BOARD

Jack Doyle was completely exonerated by the British Boxing Board of Control on all points except one with regard to the complaints lodged by Mr. John Harding, manager of the National Sporting Club, against Doyle upon his withdrawal from his match with Gunnar Baerlund at Earl's Court on June 23, writes a correspondent in the "Daily Telegraph."

Doyle duly appeared at the offices of the Board, as requested. He showed the injured right hand which was his reason for refusing to fulfil his contract, and produced a medical certificate which stated that the hand was affected by chronic synovitis and that it would be impossible for him to box for six or eight weeks.

Having satisfied the Board Doyle then jumped into a waiting car and hurried off to catch a boat to New York.
It was stated afterwards by the Southern Council of the Board, "We are satisfied that Doyle is not fit to train and box, and that Doyle did act to the best of his ability to fulfil his contract."

SOUTHERN COUNCIL'S STATEMENT

"Doyle's explanation was that his hand went on Saturday night when punching the bag.
"Regarding the action of Doyle and his manager, Mr. Dan Sullivan, following his injury, the Council will hold a further inquiry on Doyle's return from America."
This last point is the one which remains to be cleared up. Doyle claims that he informed Mr. Harding last week as to the state of his hand.

ARTIST'S MARRIAGE

Mr. Stanley Spencer, the A.R.A. who resigned from the Royal Academy two years ago when two of his pictures were rejected by the Academy Committee, was married, at Maidenhead Register Office to Miss Patricia Ruby Preece, who is also a painter.

Mr. Spencer is forty-five, and his bride, the daughter of Lieut.-Col. Duncan Preece, is thirty-seven. She has had a number of her works exhibited at galleries in London.

Mr. Spencer has held private shows of his works since the academy decided in 1935 that according to the rejection letter, two of his paintings which he had submitted for the summer show were "not to advantage" to his reputation "or the influence of the academy." A previous picture, "The Resurrection," had caused considerable controversy.

"Everything is now straightened out," Doyle said after the meeting. "The members of the Board were very fair to me, and for my part I have promised Mr. Harding that my first opponent when I am able to box again will be Baerlund."

Meanwhile, Len Harvey, who was approached to substitute for Doyle, yesterday declined to do so. He explained that he was offered only £1,000, whereas Doyle was to have received £2,000 plus £250 for training expenses. Harvey asked for £2,000.

The tournament will definitely take place, whether a suitable opponent for Baerlund is found or not. On the same programme Peter Kane fights Felt Biquet, and Maurice Strickland meets Frank Hough.

SPURS LOST £4000 LAST SEASON

The first of the balance-sheets to be issued by the London football clubs showing figures for last season will be a rather doleful affair. It will be issued by the Tottenham Hotspur Club and will show that on the year the 'Spurs' lost about £4,000, the lowest 'Evening Standard'.

Attendances at the League matches showed a falling off as compared with the previous season, due in part to many bad-weather Saturdays and partly to the failure of the side to make a real fight for promotion. Transfer fees against absorbed a big amount, and it is hinted locally that at the annual meeting some shareholders may want to know what the 'Spurs' have to show for this expenditure. In each of the previous four seasons the 'Spurs' made a profit—last of these being the lowest, at £2,220. A year ago Mr. W. J. Heryet was nominated for one of the automatic director vacancies, but his nomination was later withdrawn. It is understood that Mr. Heryet, who is well-known in London amateur football circles, will again be nominated.

LOCAL BASEBALL

Yesterday's Games

Despite the rain yesterday morning a large gathering of baseball fans turned up at Caroline Hill to watch the League matches between the Japanese Baseball Club and the Pui Ching Baseball Club, and the Hong Kong Baseball Club and Chinese Baseball Club.

The first game was between the Japanese and Pui Ching, and the Japanese took the lead in the first innings with one run. They went further ahead in the fourth when they secured another five runs. Meanwhile Pui Ching had only one run to their credit. The Japanese then took Amasaki out from pitching in the sixth innings, and this resulted in Pui Ching securing six runs to win the game.

The second match between the Hong Kong Baseball Club and the Chinese proved to be quite exciting in the first four innings, neither side being able to score. Then the Chinese took the lead, through an error on the part of the Club's catcher. No further score was registered in the fifth, but in the sixth the Club equalised through B. Muir. The Chinese scored seven runs in the sixth, and gave the Club no chance.

SATURDAY'S GAME
On the Saturday the Volunteers met the Pui Ching Baseball Club, whom they defeated by one run. The detailed scores were as follows:—

WORLD TITLE FIGHT

Final Arrangements Being Made

New York, June 26.
Sol Strauss, Mike Jacobs's lawyer, left for England to-night to close the negotiations for the world title fight for Joe Louis to be held at Wembley Stadium in August. Interviewed Jacobs said: Everything is practically settled except Louis's opponent, who may be Doyle, Ford or Harvey. Louis plans to go to London on July 15.

Official Statement By I.B. Union

Paris, June 26.
The International Boxing Union yesterday published a statement regarding recognition of the fight between Max Schmeling and Tommy Farr, scheduled for August, as a World Championship bout. The Union statement says: "It was decided in 1936 in Berlin to recognise the winner of the Schmeling-Braddock fight as World Champion." "Since Braddock evaded the fight, the International Boxing Union would now recognise Schmeling's full right to fight in London as World Champion." "An emergency committee will take a decision, which is legally valid, within the next few days."

JOE LOUIS TO FIGHT BUDDY BAER

$20,000 Offer

London, June 25.
Harrington Stadium as offered Joe Louis, who beat the world champion, Jim Braddock, in Chicago on June 22, a purse of $20,000 if he will fight Buddy Baer in London. Buddy is the younger, bigger brother of Max Baer, former world champion, and considered a "white hope" for the heavyweight title.

The Harrington promoters suggest that if Louis can beat Baer he should be matched with the winner of the proposed Farr-Schmeling bout for the world's title.

If Baer should beat Louis it is presumed he would fight Tommy Farr or Max Schmeling as world championship claimant.

RUGBY TEST

Springboks Defeat Australia

Sydney, June 26.
A crowd of 50,000 saw South Africa beat Australia in the first Rugby football Test of the Springboks' tour by 9 points (two tries and a penalty goal) to 5 (one goal).

The ground was an absolute quagmire and play was mostly confined to the two packs. At half-time the Springboks were leading by a try to nil.

Scorers for South Africa were Bastard and Bergh, tries, while Brand kicked a penalty goal. Towers scored and converted Australia's only try.

LEAGUE TENNIS FIXTURES

Programme For The Week

Two tennis ties in the Mixed Doubles League will be decided to-day when the Chinese Recreation Club play the Kowloon Cricket Club (2), at the K.C.C., and the Kowloon Cricket Club (1) oppose the United Services Recreation Club at King's Park.

Owing to the rain during the past week, many matches were thrown out of schedule.

The Chinese R.C. have filled in their vacancy among the ladies with the inclusion of Miss Gladys Boteho. The Kowloon Cricket Club (1) are handicapped by the absence of Miss Rose Perry who is away on holiday and is it doubtful whether she will be playing.

The U.S.R.C. will also be handicapped as A. L. Sullivan is unlikely to participate as he is on the injured list. There will be no "C" division match played on Thursday owing to it being a holiday.

HAMMOND & HARDSTAFF IN FINE FORM

England Collapses After Tea Interval

At the close of play at Lords on Saturday, England had scored 370 runs for seven wickets, when stumps were drawn in a thrilling opening day's play in the first Test match against New Zealand.

Before the tea interval, England's score read 271 runs for two, following early reverses when Hutton, playing in his first representative match, lost his wicket before he had opened his account, (13 for 1) and James Park who only obtained twenty-two (31 for 2). Hammond and Hardstaff then became associated and defying the New Zealand attack, were undefeated when tea was taken. The fortunes of the game now took another turn and New Zealand met with early success.

Two overs had been bowled when Hammond was tempted by a wide ball from Vivian, which he hit to be smartly taken by Roberts in the slips (276 for 3). He had scored 140 runs in 220 minutes which included a six and fourteen fours.

Hardstaff, who was dropped by Moloney from the first delivery by Vivian after tea, hit out at everything but was snapped up at mid-wicket off Roberts by Moloney, who thus made up for his former lapse (284 for 4). Hardstaff scored 114, being stylish at times and then tedious. He had stayed at the wickets for 250 minutes and reached the boundary nine times. Paynter who had taken Hammond's place had scored steadily in dull style being content to keep his end up, and soon later Barnett fell a victim to Cowie, having his wicket scattered by a perfect length delivery. His contribution was five, (302 for 5). Ames did not last long, scoring only five before Vivian claimed his wicket, (307 for 6).

Robins joined Paynter and in attempting to force the pace was caught by Tindall off Roberts for 18 runs (325 for 7). "Voice" took matters a little more seriously and was undefeated at the close of play with 12 runs to his credit scored in 27 minutes. Paynter, also with his wicket intact, had scored 42 runs in 82 minutes.

The score was:—
England—1st Innings
Hutton, b. Cowie 0
Parks (J.), b. Cowie 22

Hardstaff, c. Moloney, b. Roberts 114

A crowd of only 5,000 were present at the headquarters of cricket when what is the hundredth Test match to be played on English soil opened in dull weather.

R. W. V. Robins, in his first Test as captain of England, won the toss and elected to bat first.

The teams were:—
England: R. W. V. Robins (Middlesex) (Captain); Hammond and Barnett (Gloucester); Verity and Hutton (Yorkshire); Voce and Hardstaff (Notts); Ames (Kent); Paynter (Lancs.); Gover (Surrey) and James Parks (Sussex).

New Zealand: M. I. Page (Captain); W. A. Hedges; F. L. Kerr; M. W. Wallace; E. G. Vivian; J. Cowie; E. W. Tindall; M. P. Donnelly; D. A. R. Moloney; J. A. Dunning and A. W. Roberts.

The crowd later increased to 12,000.

Kalzana is a remarkable food containing no drugs whatsoever.

In hot countries one's diet and the extent to which one perspires tend to decrease the mineral contents of the body. Many complaints such as irritability, high blood pressure, dizziness, acidity, which are so often ascribed to 'the climate' are due largely to this loss of minerals.

When you do not feel as well as you should, start taking Kalzana tablets. They will soon put you right.

WIMBLEDON TENNIS

Henkel Given Hard Fight

London, June 28.
A huge crowd was present at Wimbledon to-day when the All-England Championships were continued. One of the outstanding results of the day was Heinrich Henkel's victory over Charles E. Hare, in the Fourth Round of the Men's Singles, the young German winning in five sets after a terrific struggle against his younger British opponent by scores of 6-4, 3-6, 3-6, 6-2, 6-3.

Henkel with the German and French titles in his possession, is favoured to reach the semi-final round.

Miss Dorothy Round (Great Britain), Miss Peggy Scriven (Great Britain), Miss Alice Marble (United States), and Mme. Couquerque (Holland) all reached the last 16 in the Women's Singles, all winning in straight sets.

KHO SIN-KIE WINS MEN'S DOUBLES

London, June 28.
Wimbledon not only continued to be in lovely weather to-day, but results without exception, went according to "the book."

Frank Parker and Vivian McGrath, both "seeded" players, advanced into the quarter-finals, neither being the least bit extended.

Parker overcame Dr. Prens, former German Davis Cupper, in straight sets, conceding eleven games in the process.

McGrath had an even easier job against Ronald Shaves and won with the loss of but six games.

Among the women who entered the last sixteen were: Mme. Mathieu of France, Mrs. D. B. Andrus of America and Mile. Jedrejowska of Poland.

KHO SIN-SIE WINS

In the men's doubles, Kho Sin-ke and Karl Schroeder won through to the third round by beating J. G. F. Lysaght and P. V. V. Sherwood after a four set match. Kho and Schroeder won the first set, lost the second and won the next two.

Kho was not in his best form and appeared to be unable to concentrate. He often cleared the lines with his shots. The Sino-Swedish players are by no means ideal partners, but they were good enough individually to get through this match.

In another second round encounter, Nakano and Yamagishi of Japan beat J. F. Filby and Cook of England after a five set match.

The Englishmen were at sixes and sevens during the first set, but thereafter they improved. Cook possessed a hot service and Filby was good at volleying. They were therefore able to assume the offensive and to keep the Japanese at the baseline.

Nevertheless Yamagishi and Nakano were persistent and while not showing exceptional form, Yamagishi scored constantly with his accurate side-line placements. Nakano worked very hard, but he was sometimes caught out of a position.

After winning the first two sets, the Japanese were 4-2 up in the third. Then the Englishmen started their recovery and forced the issue to the fifth set.

To-day's results included the following as cabled by Reuter.

MEN'S SINGLES

Fourth Round

* F. Parker (U.S.) beat Dr. D. Prens 6-4, 7-5, 6-2.
* V. McGrath (Australia) beat R. A. Shaves (Britain) 6-2, 8-1, 6-3.

MEN'S DOUBLES

Second Round

J. Yamagishi and Nakano (Japan) beat F. J. Filby and Cook (Britain) 6-3, 6-3, 5-7, 3-6, 6-2.
Kho Sin-ke (China) and K. Schroeder (Sweden) beat J. G. F. Lysaght and P. V. V. Sherwood (Britain) 6-4, 3-6, 6-3, 6-3.
* Seeded players.

HUTTON'S FINE FORM

Home Cricket Results

London, June 28.
Leslie Hutton, the young Yorkshireman, is fast making himself one of the most talked-about cricketers in England.

Following his double-century against Derbyshire earlier in the week, he played another magnificent innings against Leicester, sharing in a huge first-wicket partnership with Herbert Sutcliffe.

Hutton, who has become Percy Holmes' successor as opening bat with Sutcliffe, is batting brilliantly this season, and this eve-of-the-Test form augurs well for his appearance, against the New Zealanders.

Yorkshire ran up the huge total of 523 for 3, declared against Leicestershire, yet could only win first innings points.

Sutcliffe scored 188, Hutton 153 and Leyland 118 not out. Leicester replied with 458, C. S. Dempster scoring 148 and Watson 122. In their second innings, Yorkshire lost some cheap wickets and when play closed had 77 on the board for the loss of four batsmen.

LANCASHIRE WINS

Lancashire beat Northants by six wickets. Northants were dismissed for 168 and 274. Cuthbertson hitting up 96 in the second innings, and Lancashire responded with a first knock of 234 (Partridge 5 for 38) and 211 for 5. Washbrook scoring 121 not out.

Hampshire had to remain content with first innings points against Derbyshire. Hampshire hit up 341 in their first visit to the wicket, Potchecary contributing 115, and in their second venture they scored 199 for the loss of one wicket declared, Arnold hitting up 105 not out.

Derbyshire's reply was 265 (Smith 140) and 172 for 7 wickets.

Sussex were thwarted of an outright win by Cambridge after a thrilling tussle for first innings lead. Sussex won the tussle by three runs.

Batting first the county side amassed 317, Cox scoring 96 and Harry Parks 89. Cambridge hit back and put together 314, Yardley scoring 104 and Tindall 117.

Sussex declared second innings at 314 for 8, Bartlett compiling 122, but Cambridge easily saved the game, compiling 204 for the loss of four wickets.

Here are the results and leading individual performances as cabled by Reuter.

THE SHARE MARKET

Harriman's Weekly Report

Messrs. G. A. Harriman & Co.'s weekly share report and market review issued at noon on Saturday.

In spite of the depressing weather the market has shown a fairly cheerful mien this past week and one or two popular local counters have improved in price. With Docks a particularly active feature up to 33½. With some increase in public interest the market has possibilities of going better in the near future, for several companies are due to declare interim dividends, during the next quarter, and these acceptable payments invariably give fillip to quotations. Manila continues to be a dreary and uninteresting market and the almost negligible changes in rates offer little incentive to trade.

Hong Kong Banks were again in good demand and transactions are reported up to $2,000 although this price was the peak and shares were subsequently sold at $188½. Unions are a quieter market at $23½ and 308 but other Insurance descriptions remain unchanged.

Hong Kong Steamboats came up to $84 and Wharfs reacted to $119 with buyers bidding $117. Providents (old) were active between $230 and $24, closing buyers at the lower rate. The (new) were sold at 80 cts. and later at 70 cts. and close 65 cts. buyers.

Docks were in good demand, both cash and forward and a very considerable turnover was handled from $11½ to $33½, with the higher price maintained at close. These shares should show further appreciation in due course.

Raubas are a quiet market near $12 ex dividend and New Goldfields of Venezuela at $5.

Hotels armed up after the settlement and had keen buyers at $7.30, at which price they are still asked for. Lands sold at $36 and are further wanted just under. Realty is becoming a more popular stock and look attractive around the present quotation which is $6.10. $6.20 sales were effected during the week at $6.10.

Utility shares as usual have received fair attention. With Trams strong up to $15.10. Peak Terms (old) are wanted at $5 and the New at $2½. Ferries are quieter at $8 and Yau-mat's had sales at $28.10. China Lights at $14½ look an attractive buy and Hong Kong Electric should be a safe investment at current rates, viz $304-$305. Telephones (old) are $30 buyers, cum dividend and the New $11.60.

Cements took a spur to $15½ and remain round this. Dairy Farms have moved higher to $26½, with buyers still bidding. Watsons are asked for at $5. Sinceres at $2.60 and Wm. Powells at 40 cts. Ewos are $8.17.80 ex rights and the Rights $8.44 premium.

Government Loans have buyers at $102½ and $109, for the 3½ per cent and 4 per cent respectively. Maraman Hong Kong and China are up to 6/8 middle.

Philippine mining. As already stated this section has been practically featureless. Coco Grove improved a few points to $1.38, and Paracale Gumaus to 75 cts. Consolidated Mines announce the distribution next month of one share for four gratis. The Tumaga mine of this company is being incorporated as a separate concern and it is rumoured that shares will be distributed to Consolidated Mine shareholders free. Readers are advised to send shares for registration before July 14th next. The market price for Consolidated Mines is 4 cts. buyers.

Closing comment:—Hong Kong very steady and improving. Manila dull.

It is interesting to note, however, that the owners of Greek freight tonnage had made no request for financial help, and it is quite possible they depreciated the proposal that long-term loans on which the Government might pay 2 per cent. If the interest should be mainly available for new construction, and that the age of any second-hand vessel acquired should not exceed 15 years.

In the coasts trade the Greek shipowner has no competition to fear, for the traffic between ports and the adjacent Islands is practically restricted to national flag vessels which enjoy postal subsidies for the services they render in Mediterranean waters.

BABY HEALTH CAMPAIGN

I have never had the privilege of seeing so many fine, healthy, young hopefuls gathered together before.

To those who have not won prizes I can only say they have nothing to be despondent about. The way the doctors have managed to pick out three in each class as being healthier than their fellows fills me with admiration not unmixed with awe if by some unfortunate chance the lot of choosing had fallen to me. I quite frankly admit, I should have been very hard put to it indeed so much so that I should probably have stealthily left the field so wonderfully healthy and well-do all your children look.

I am sure you will all join with me in thanking the doctors and nurses for their kindness and public spirit in coming here this afternoon and for the very efficient way they have dealt with so difficult a job. At the same time I want to thank The South China Athletic Association for so kindly lending us their ground for this afternoon. One more word, Watson's as you know for nearly a hundred years have been acting as the great doctor and nurse to thousands and thousands of people, they are delighted to see you all here this afternoon looking so flourishing and you can rely on them in times of need to serve you and your children as well in the future as they hope they may have served your grandfathers and grandmothers in the past. Mrs. Jupp then distributed the prizes.

PRIZE WINNERS
"A" Class—(between five months and twelve months old):—(1) Wong Wing-pak; (2) Lam Kar-chui; (3) Cheng So-lau.
"B" Class—(between twelve months and twenty-four months old):—(1) Leung Kam-tai; (2) Leung Chi-kung; (3) Wong Tin-wai.
The first prize winners each got an engraved silver cup and $100 cash bond from the Wing On Co. The second prize winners each got an engraved silver shield and $50 cash bond from the Wing On Co. The third prize winners each got one small engraved silver shield and $25 cash bond from the Wing On Co.

All participants were given a bag containing three toys and a tin of Cow and Gate milk each, kindly presented by Mr. S. H. Langston, of Cow and Gate.

The whole of this show was a medium of advertisement for Watson's Baby Water, which is a simple and effective remedy for baby disorders.

THE JUDGES
The following were the doctors who acted as judges:—Doctors Chow Wai-chung, Cheung Fat-in, Wu Hung-tak, Wong Yan-kwong, C.F.E. da Roza and Lai Kwong-yuk.

The following were the nurses who assisted in the examination:—Misses Loh So-ahung, Wong Guk-wah, Sin Hung-bun, Yu Hong-jing, Wong Chai-hung, Tai Sun-bien, Luk Tsui-kee, Lee Tak-ling, Chan Shuet-kwan, Kwok Min-chun, Lau Wai-ching, and Yau Sin-wa.

After the show refreshment was served in the Club house of the S.O.A.A.

SOVIET PURGE CONTINUES

Authoritative Survey By Dr. Chu Chia-hua

Tribute To Humble Couriers

It is fitting that the author who knows so much of the work and worth of the postal messengers—many of whom face ordeals and endure hardships the like of which are unknown in any other country—should pay glowing tribute to their magnificent co-operation by quoting what Herodotus wrote twenty-three centuries ago of the Greek messengers of his time:— "Neither snow, nor rain, nor heat, nor the gloom of night stays these couriers from the swift completion of their appointed rounds."
Surely those words can fairly be applied to the humble couriers of the Chinese Post Office to-day.

Inspiring Achievements

Although China has had a postal system dating as far back as the Chou Dynasty, about 3000 years ago, yet the organisation according to modern methods has only been in existence forty years. But it is not merely of postal communications that this comprehensive volume deals. By sea, air and railway does the talented Dr. Chu take the reader on an inspiring word tour which affords ample opportunity of surveying a field remarkable for achievements in the face of gigantic difficulties.

Noteworthy indeed is the progress in the realm of civil aviation, which has received the enthusiastic backing of the Central Government since 1929. Roads and railways have ribboned their ways effectively for the advancement of China's intricate and spacious system of strategically vital communications.

National Significance

When I was granted an interview a week ago with His Excellency the Governor of Kwangtung, General Wu Teh-chen, he emphasised the national significance of adequate communications from the cultural, commercial and strategic aspects. His well founded major premise was that without adequate communications a nation must be disunited and consequently weak. "Communications," said General Wu, "contribute to unity and stimulate prosperity in a remarkable degree. China's plan of communications is now functioning properly and great developmental works are in hand which, when executed, will contribute to nationwide prosperity and confidence in a way that will, I feel sure, be as surprising as gratifying."

In this book Dr. Chu develops a similar thesis. It may rightly be said after reading this volume, adapting Tennyson to the present theme, "The old, old order changeth, yielding place to new," and the Central Government fulfils China's destiny in many ways, not the least being based on its systems of communications.

In an exclusive interview with a "Daily Press" representative, the Chief Commissioner, Mr. J. W. Tsang, expressed his appreciation of the cordial reception given by brother scouts on his visit to Hong Kong. He asked our reporter to convey through the medium of our newspaper his message of goodwill and friendship to the inhabitants of this Colony, for he left with happy memories of his delightful visit, grateful for all that the scouts and others had done for him with regard to helpfulness, adding that he hoped to pass Hong Kong again before returning to Nanking.
